

Northwest Screenwriters Guild

presents

Open to the Public!

Script to Screen: My First Movie

A Conversation with Award-Winning Screenwriter Bill True

You've finished your script, and it's a great one. Now you're looking for your first break. How do you make that happen?

Meet one guy who did it.

Join NWSG president Aadip Desai as he sits down for a candid conversation with screenwriter Bill True about his award-winning debut feature, RUNAWAY, from FADE IN to distribution.

You'll laugh! You'll cry! You'll learn as Bill shares how he sold his script, stayed with the movie through production and distribution, and leveraged the experience to take his screenwriting career to the next level.

Whether you're an aspiring screenwriter or simply a movie buff, this promises to be an entertaining and informative experience you won't want to miss!

Friday, May 30

7:00—9:30 PM

Clear Channel Building
351 Elliott Ave N., Seattle, WA

FREE to NWSG Members
$8 for Members of Partner Film Orgs
$15 for General Public

RSVP: www.nwsg.org

SPONSORED BY:

ABOUT THE SPEAKER: Minnesota native Bill True is an award-winning screenwriter, professional speaker, and intrepid blogger. His debut feature, RUNAWAY, premiered to universal accolades, won the top prize at the Austin Film Festival, and is slated for release in 2008. He is currently in development with two feature films and a cable network mini-series. For two years running, Bill has been voted as a favorite juror of competitors at the Austin Screenwriters' Conference Pitch Competition. You can find out more about Bill by visiting his website at www.billtrue.net.